What is AnthoComplete™?

AnthoComplete is a nutritious blend that provides a broad spectrum of anthocyanins derived from wild bilberry, wild blueberry, acai, black currant extract, sweet cherry, raspberry, elderberry, blackberry, aronia, black soybean hull extract and blue corn.

What are the health benefits of AnthoComplete™?

AnthoComplete delivers powerful flavonoid antioxidants called anthocyanins. Published research associates anthocyanins with healthy aging, inflammation management, improved blood sugar metabolism and cardiovascular disease management.

Anthocyanins are not all created equal. Each fruit, vegetable and legume provides its own set of unique anthocyanins which reside in the body for different lengths of time and in different locations, providing a range of benefits. One single source product cannot solely provide the broad range of anthocyanins that would normally be obtained from a healthy diet. FutureCeuticals has carefully designed AnthoComplete to provide the necessary range of anthocyanins.

What structure function claims can I make for AnthoComplete™?

Structure function claims for AnthoComplete could include:

Supports Healthy Inflammatory Response
Promotes Healthy Brain Function

Promotes Cardiovascular Health
Promotes Healthy Vision

Why choose antioxidants from FutureCeuticals?

FutureCeuticals offers unique blends that provide a variety of antioxidants from different natural, plant-based sources. We also go beyond typical antioxidant measurements by standardizing blends to specific levels of anthocyanins and phenolics. By offering a branded and standardized ingredient, we can help create differentiation when a product goes to market.

How can you use AnthoComplete™?

AnthoComplete is ideal for nutraceutical and functional food products like capsules, tablets, and ready-to-mix beverages, among others. AnthoComplete provides opportunities in markets such as children’s nutrition, healthy aging and beauty-from-within.
